From the Pastor:

This summer AMC's worship will be centered on the theme Nurturing Joy. How do we nurture joy in our lives not only during a pandemic but in all seasons of life? Restrictions to keep our community safe have taken away many of the things that make life rich and meaningful. Many people say they have become unmotivated to engage with daily routines and schedules. Others have suggested that we are experiencing "Groundhog days." This is in reference the 1993 movie where Bill Murray is a reporter doing a story on local Groundhog lore. In a twist of fate, he wakes up every morning at 6:00 AM only to repeat the same day over and over. Some say there is a disconnection with life in general creating a haze of time where one day runs into the next with no sense moving forward. If you have asked what day of the week it is more than once a week this could be you. It is like a mild depression that exhausts one's motivation for basic daily plans. The stereotypical portrait of this is sitting on the couch wearing pajamas in a messy house eating junk food while endlessly binge watching TV.

Psychologists have used the term languishing to describe this condition. Even with the hope offered by the vaccines, the lingering effects of languishing for so long will be with us for months, even years. Paul's letter to the Philippians is often called his epistle of joy. Shackled in prison, possibly facing execution for his belief that Jesus is Lord and Caesar is not, the apostle Paul experiences a remarkable joy despite his dire circumstances. How can this be? But what is joy that it might be found while imprisoned?

How is it that Paul could nurture such Joy with his freedoms severely curtailed? Perhaps joy can only be nurtured when we realize the finitude of our existence in the vast unknowability of the cosmos. Paul's letter to the church at Philippi informs us how we might nurture joy in this extended time of languishing.

The Quilts bring me joy, designing, making, meditating.

Colour My World With...Love I love applique, circles, and rainbows in all their meanings – love, inclusion, promise, hope.

Hearts and Tulips 3.0 – This quilt was started in 2009. I intended to do a whole quilt with just the small blocks, but got caught up making many baby quilts instead. So Version 2.0 was to add the larger blocks to the quilt. Version 3.0 happened when I decided to join the sections with the appliqued vine.

- email correction Nancy Ratzlaff is ratzlaffn24@gmail.com

- Sunday July 11 Small group gatherings - As restrictions are easing, it is time to refamiliarize ourselves with gathering as a congregation. The plan is to start off small and ease our way in. Instead of a worship service, the groups that were previously organized for the passing of the communion bread and the sharing acts of kindness will be meeting. Group leaders will organize a time and place to meet (doesn't have to be Sunday morning but could be) for a time of sharing and fellowship. In keeping with the Nurturing Joy theme the following starter question is offered. "What has been a source of joy for you during the long months of restricted/limited contact with others?" You might consider recording some of the ways that emerge to be shared with the congregation at a later date.

- From the treasurer:

Part of AMC's giving supports Mennonite Church Manitoba's Leadership Ministries. Facilitated by The Director of Leadership Ministries, this program supports and cares for pastors by offering individual pastoral care, opportunities for continuing education, seminars and workshops designed to strengthen and stretch ministry, and by facilitating and leading monthly pastors' cluster meetings in each of 5 regions within MCM. They assist Congregations in areas such as encouraging and calling persons to ministry, pastoral searches, pastor-congregation relationships, credentialing persons for ministry, pastoral reviews, and when necessary, receive assistance in situations of mediation and conflict resolution. Like many pastors in MCM, Pastor Dan is at AMC because of access to grants and loans for pastoral studies provided by MCM's Leadership Ministries. Thank you again for supporting all the work of the Church. You may contribute online if you bank at Access (using your 7-digit phone number as your account number) make an etransfer to amchurchdonations@gmail.com, or send or bring a cheque to AMC (Box 1237, Altona, R0G 0B0). Check the latest minutes and financial statements for more information
